

I can understand that each of us has a unique perspective through which we interpret experience. And I understand and am grateful for freedom of speech. I also understand that different media have different views and tend to promote those views. However, I feel uncomfortable with Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. And I don't think they are serving the public interest by showing only one perspective on Kerry just days before the election. This is dishonorable at best. Whether it is illegal or not might be within your power to determine. Please investigate this objectionable behavior. Thank you.
